hath stuck at nothing to effect this Purpose. A Con-stitution, dearly purchased by our Ancestors, and dear to us, and which we persuade ourselves will be continued to us notwithstanding the Representations in his Letters; the Truth of which depends folely upon his own Averment.

The most material Things charged upon the Council are, their not doing their Duty with Respect to the providing Quarters for the King's Troops posted at Boston; and a general Omission of Duty arising from their Servility to the Populace, the pleafing of whom, hath, according to his Representation, been the Rule of their Conduct—both without Foundation or even Colour of Truth, PAOLI is retired and entrenched near Tavagnano. The French, before they are Mafters of the Isle, have still to conquer Aleria, the Pieves of Rogna, Cast tello and Fiumorbo, besides divers other Posts in the Province of the Balagna, as Calenzana, Cassani, Cusignani and Mucale, also many Districts situated not far from Calvi, and which can support one another.

VIENNA, June 6. The Works in the Military Department have ment here, are carried on with the same Ardour as before the Emperor's Departure, infomuch that it might be imagined we were at the Eve of a War. Several Powers are doing the same, and, among others a large Body of Prussian Troops is assembling on the Borders of Poland.

According to the last Letters from the Ottoman the Porte, in Consequence of Dispatches from the Turkish Army, had caused the Cannon of the Seraglio to be fired, together with all those of the Foreign Vessels in the Port of Constantinople, in order to announce to the People the Advantages obtained over the Russians near Choczim, so that both Sides assume to themselves the Honour of what passed in those

June 17. It is said that there is a Design to propose a Change in the Government of our North-American Colonies, and form an Union of the Whole on a new Model. In this Plan, the incorporated Provinces are not to be subject to the British Parliament, but to remain dependent on the Crown, in the same Manner as Ire-land; having a Parliament of their own, and being governed, with Respect to the Crown Prerogative, by a Viceroy or Lieutenant.

It is imagined, that were the above Plan to be pro posed, none would come into it with so much Warmth as the Americans themselves; as they have long en-dured the Tyranny of little arbitrary Governors, whose Continuance in Office depended on the executing whole Communities in Since depended on the the oppressive Dictates of bad M——rs.

June 19. It is reported that upwards of 2000 Artizans, hitherto employed in the manufacture of British Goods exported to North-America, have actually been discharged, in different Parts of the Country, within the last Six Weeks, for Want of Employment; there being at present, no fort of Demand for these Articles, nor is it known when there will be.

June 20. The Island of Corfica is known to abound in such prodigious Quantities of Timber, proper for building Ships, that whatever Naval Power shall possess that Island, may expect in a few Years to rule the June 25. An Article in the Dutch Prints, received by this Day's Mail, fays, "The Stranger arrefted lately at Breft, fays he is a Scotchman, and Brother of Lord Gordon. He has been, it is faid, at Toulon and Rochfort, with the fame View that he hath passed some will have it that he fare he Day Time at Brest. Some will have it, that before his De-parture from the latter Port, he had a Design to set Fire to the Magazines, but that is not Credible. All that we certainly know is, he was Five Weeks at Brest, that he lived honourably under the Name of Lord Gordon, an Officer in the English Marine; and that he presented himself to the Commendation; he presented himself to the Commandant with Letters from the Count de Chatelet Lomont, Ambassador from the King at London. He is safely guarded in the Castle, and the English Charge des Affaires here is de-sired to give Information of this Matter to the British Ministry, and render an Account of what they may

The Magdalen Schooner, commanded by Lieute-nant Galder, is arrived at Spithead, from North-Amewith Dispatches from Lord Bottetourt, for the Secretary of State.

Translation of a Letter from Paris, dated June 7. "At last, my dear Friend, the Count de Vaux has determined the Fate of Corsica, and those brave Islanders have lost in one Day their brave General, their Property, their Country, and what is still more precious, their Liberty; thanks to the Generosity of your English Ministers: All the World here complain of this fatal Event, as the Invasion of Corsica was a Measure odious to every honest Frenchman, as well in the Court, as the Capital; and every Body here knows, if Lord Rochford's warm Representation, which they fay was transmitted to him, by the Advice of Lord Chatham and by Lord Shelburn then Secretary of State, had been well supported, or, indeed, not de-froyed by your Ministers, the Duke de Choiseul, who had alone undertaken to seize and destroy the brave Corficans, with their Libertics, would have infallibly been forced to withdraw the French Forces from that Island, and likewife to quit his Employ, which alone could scure the Peace of Europe for any Time. We must agree, that the English, during the last War, had the Courage of Lions, but since the Peace they feem to be as timorous as Deer. In a little Time I will fend you an exact Relation of Count de Vaux's will fend you an exact Relation of Count de Vaux's operations; for the present shall only say, that Paoli; being driven out from all his Fastnesses, was obliged to sly for safety to Leghorn. All his Papers, his Secretary, and Treasurer, with his Five great Dogs, which guarded him Day and Night, are in the Possession of the French, with 30 Pieces of Cannon and some Specie given him by the English.

"The Count de Vaux has taken near 3000 Consicans, with 300 French Deserters, which Paoli had placed in the Rear of his Troops, with Orders to fire upon them in Case they attempted to retire. He has ordered these last to be hanged immediately; this Act of Severity is of a Piece with his Practice at Gottingen in the last War.—There are only 100 Men remaining of the Marine Regiment, which is composed of Four Battalions, and of Bulkeley's Irish Regiment, who made the sift Attack upon the Corsicans, with Four Battalions, and of Bulkeley's Irish Regiment, who made the first Attack upon the Corsicans, with the Point of their Bayonets; they defended themselves, for a long Time, with incredible Bravery; but, being affailed on all Sides with superior and irressible Force, they were forced to submit. It is faid, that our Loss Amounts to 1900 Men, and that of the Corsicans

ST. JOH N's, (in Antigua,) August 5. We have received the following circumstantial Account of the melancholy Effects of the late Hurricane at Dominica, by a Gentleman who was not only a Spectator, but narrowly escaped being a fatal Sufferer, on the 26th of July, about 3 o'Clock in the Morning the Wind blew from N. W. with great Moderation, at 4 it shifted to S. W. and S. S. W. at 5, of half after, it began to blow fresh, after which a Squall came in Direction from S. S. W. and a heavy Sea set, which draws an Shora as Sail viz. a Snow belonging. which drove on Shore 13 Sail, viz. a Snow belonging to London, Capt. Adnet; a Sloop belonging to Philadelphia, Capt. Conyers; a Schooner belonging to Barbados, Capt. Brown, and 10 Sail of Sloops and Schooners, most of them belonging to Guadoloupe and The London Snow was the first that part-Martinico. The London Snow was the first that parted, she carried Four Sail ashore with her, which were all stove to Pieces in a short Time. At half after Eight, Capt. Reivly, of a Snow belonging to London, cut his Cables and put out to Sea: A Schooner belonging to Sir William Young lay within Thirty Yards of the Shore for Two Hours, expecting to strike every Moment, having made Three Attempts to get out, and was as often baffled; the Captain to get out, and was as often baffled; the Captain was obliged to haul down his Sails Three Times, during which he split his Main-Sail and cut one of his Cables; but a sudden Breeze springing, he got his Sails up, cut his other Cables, and, with great Difficulty weathered the Wrecks about Ten Yards. At Prince Rupert's Bay Two Sail went on Shore, both Northward Men, one a Sloop, the other a Schooner, the former will be loft, the latter got off without any Damage, Two large Ships went ashore on the Saints, one of which had 500 Hhds. of Sugar and 200 Bails of Cotton. Capt. Stevenson, of a Ship lelonging to London, a Brigantine, and a Northward Schooner, rode it out 'til Evening, when, the Wind shifting on Shore, they put to Sea.

OSTON, August 17. Last Saturday General Mackay sailed for London in the Brigantine commanded by Capt. Bartlett .-Though the fending the Troops in this Town, confidering the Errand they came on, was a Measure not founded in Reason, and as disguisful as unreasonable: Justice however requires us to say, that General Mac-kay's Command of the Troops has given universal Sa-tisfaction; and with Pleasure we take this Opportunity to acknowledge his Merit, both as a Gentleman and an Officer:—He was faluted from Caftle-William with Thirteen Guns.

The Town and Trade were no less happy in Com-modore Hood, commanding Officer of the Ships of War lately here: This Happiness was the more extraordinary, confidering the Affiduity of the Nettleham Baronet and his Affociates to impress the General and Commodore with Disadvantageous Ideas of the Town and Province; Both which the Baronet and his Fellow-Labourers, the C-rs have done all in their Power-(but, thanks to Heaven, ineffectually)-to
